PREMONSTRATENSIAN ABBEY. An abbey of the Premonstratensian order, founded A. D. 1191 /s. by K. Richard 1. or Jeffery earl of Perch and Maud his wife, the parents of Henry de Wengham /t, or some other charitable and pious persons, and commended to the patronage of St. Mary and St. Radegund. There seems to have been a design of translating this abbey to the neighbouring church of Ryvere 9 Joan. but it did not succeed. The revenues of this monastery were returned into the exchequer 26 Hen 8. at 98 l. 9 s. 2 d. ob. per ann. Dugd. 142 l. 8 s. 9 d. XII. CANTERBURY.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL AND BENEDICTINE PRIORY. King Ethelbert, upon his first conversion to Christianity, about the year 600. gave his palace here to St. Augustine, and the monks that came over with him, who thereupon began a monastery here, and repairing an old church in the neighbourhood (said to have been founded and filled with monks /y before the Ro= mans /z left this island) dedicated it to the honor of our blessed savior Christ. This was by the arch= bishops made their cathedral, and for the most part was under the care of a dean and Secular ca= nons, till archbishop Ealfric, A. D. 1003. turned them out, and put in monks in their stead; but the Seculars quickly after seem to have repossessed themselves, and continued till Lanfranc, about /u Perhaps of the East Angles, or Norfolk. She might be the relict of Hugh Bigot, who died A. D. 1177. and afterwards per= haps the wife of Walkel Maminot: for, in her charter, she saith she made that donation 'pro animabus patris et matris meæ, et dominorum meorum Hugonis Bigoth et Walkelini Mami= not,' Mon. Angl. ii. 640.

/x The church of Patricksburn had been appropriated to this priory from A. D. 1258. Three canons were to reside for the better performance of all parochial duties, and if the profits en= creased, more canons were to be sent and kept here, as Cartul. Archiepisc.

A. D. 1080. rebuilt the cathedral and the adjacent buildings, and replenished the same with one hundred and fifty Benedictine monks. From this time this monastery was often stiled the church or priory of the Holy Trinity, as well as Christ Church, and beside the great offerings at Thomas of Becket's shrine, was endowed with lands and revenues, valued, 26 Hen. 8. at the clear sum of 2387 l. 13 s. 3 d. ob. per ann /a. or 2489 l. 4 s. 9 d. as in Speed /b. Upon the dissolution K. Henry 8. refounded this church, and placed therein a dean and twelve canons or prebendaries, with six preachers, six Minor canons, six substitutes, twelve lay clerks, ten choristers, two masters and fifty scholars, twelve almsmen, &c.

2. ST. AUGUSTINE'S, BENEDICTINE ABBEY. The before mentioned new convert Ethelbert king of Kent, upon the farther persuasions of his ghostly father St. Augustine, founded, A. D. 605. another noble monastery here, and commended it to the patronage of St. Peter and St. Paul; but the names of those two great apostles were swallowed up by the new one of St. Augustine, archbishop of Canterbury; for, after his burial here, this house was generally styled St. Augustine's abbey. The monks were of the Benedictine order, and, 26 Hen. 8. were returned into the exchequer to have been endowed with 1413 l. 4 s. 11 d. ob. q. per ann. Dugd. 1412 l. 4 s. 7 d. ob. q. Speed; which last sum is the gross value in the ms /m. and the clear sum there is 1274 l. 0 s. 10 d. ob. q /m. The site was granted for life to cardinal Poole 2 and 3. Phil. et Mar.

5. MONASTERY DESTROYED. In the early Saxon times it is said, that within the walls, on the south part of this city, was a monastery built in honor of St. Mildred, whose last abbat's name was Alfwic /r; of which neither Mr. Somner nor Mr. Battely give us any account.

6. EASTBRIDGE HOSPITAL. The hospital of Eastbridge or Kingsbridge in this city is guessed to have been of archbishop Lanfranc's foundation /s. However, if the confirmation of what Robert Drus gave to the church of Eastburch, and the Regular brethren there mentioned by Mr. Speed belong to this place, it was as ancient as K. Henry 1. and so before Tho. Becket's time, who is by some said to be the founder /t; but whoever founded it, it was called immediately after the canonization of the last mentioned archbishop, the Hospital of St. Thomas the Martyr. Archbishop Stratford did so much for it, as to be stiled the second founder. It was originally for the entertainment of pilgrims, and the revenues of it, 26 Hen. 8. were 23 l. 18 s. 9 d. ob. q. per ann /u. Dugd. Speed. It was preserved upon the reformation, but being like to be swallowed up in Q. Elizabeth's time, archbishop Whitgift recovered the same, and made statutes, which are confirmed by act of parliament, whereby here are established a master, a schoolmaster, five in-brothers and five in-sisters, and as many out-brothers and out-sisters.

8. ST JOHN'S HOSPITAL. Without the north gate of this city, Lanfranc archbishop of Canterbury /w, about the year 1084. founded and endowed with 70 l. per ann. an hospital for poor infirm, lame, or blind men and women, dedicated to St. John Baptist. It was under the government of a prior; and its revenues were valued, 26 Hen. 8. at 93 l. 15 s. in the whole, and 91 l. 16 s. 8 d. ob. per ann. clear /x. It is yet in being, and the latest account that hath been given of it saith, that it contains a prior, a reader, eighteen in-brothers, twenty in-sisters, and the like number of out-brothers and out-sisters; and that the revenues in the whole are 195 l. 8 s. 9 d.

9. ST. LAWRENCE'S HOSPITAL. On the right hand of the way from this city to Dover, in the south east suburb, Hugh /y the second of that name, abbat of St. Augustine's, built to the honor of St. Laurence /z, A. D. 1137. an hospital for the relief of leprous monks, or the poor parents and relations of any of the monks of that abbey. It consisted of a warden or keeper, a priest or chaplain, one clerk, and sixteen brethren and sisters; and the chief or senior of these sisters was sometimes called the prioress. The revenues of this house were valued, 26 Hen. 8. at 39 l. 8 s. 6 d. in the whole /a, and 31 l. 7 s. 10 d. clear. It was alienated in the time of K. Edward 6. to one Tipsal /b, and after by Q. Mary granted to Sir John Parrot.

10. ST. MARGARET'S HOSPITAL. In the parish of St. Margaret, before the year 1243 /c. Simon de Langton archdeacon of Canterbury founded an hospital for poor infirm aged priests, which was valued, 26 Hen. 8. at 28 l. 16 s. 1 d. in the whole, and 10 l. 13 s. 8 d. per ann. clear. It continued undissolved till 17 Eliz. when it was surrendered by the then master, archdeacon of Canterbury as patron, and archbishop as ordinary, whereupon the queen granted the same with all its lands and appurtenances to the mayor and commonalty of the city for the use of the poor, and the site of it is now their Bridewell.

/z Quære, Whether not rather in memory of S. Laurence the archbishop, successor to St. Augustine, than of the Broiled Martyr, as Mr. Somner terms him. It is also to be observed, that this hospital is different from the hospital at the gate of St. Austin's abbey, which was under the care of the almoner of the abbey, and had the church of Northbourn appropriated to it.

15. GREY FRIERS. The Franciscan, Minor or Grey friers, came also into England A. D. 1224. nine in number, whereof five stayed at Canterbury, by the direction of K. Henry 3. and there fixed the first house of their order /g, on a piece of ground near the poor priest's hospital. John Diggs, an alderman, about A. D. 1270. translated them to an island then called Bynnewith, on the west part of the city, where they continued till the dissolution, after which this friery was granted, 31 Hen. 8. to Thomas Spilman.

Catharinæ et S. Thomæ, quæ simul sunt unita, heredes suos') seem to imply that the hospitals were thus united before this donation of William Cokyn was made; and if so, he could not be the original founder of that of St. Nicholas and St. Catharine.

/e For then these friers came first into England, and Mr. Somner thinks this the first house they had in England, but most writers make their first house at Oxford. See the Preface.

/g See Weaver, p. 134. Stow in anno 1224. &c. Yet Leland, Collect. i. 122. Stow, in anno 1508. Speed, and others, make K. Henry 7. first founder of this friery, which was settled almost three hundred years before. He might be a great benefactor, though Somner hath not observed it, or might change the first Conventual Franciscans into that reformed branch of their order called Observants or Recollects, but could not be first founder. Weaver, p. 234. saith this house was valued at 39 l. 12 s. 8 d. ob. per ann. But there is no valuation of it either in Dugdale or Speed. Stevens mentions also a house of White Friars here, which from the particulars appears to be the same with the Grey Friars; he quotes Weaver for his authority, but the identity of the founder and the scite leaves no room to doubt his being mistaken.

COLLEGE. John lord Cobham, A. D. 1362. made the parish church of St. Mary Magdalene here collegiate, establishing only at first five chaplains, whereof one to be master; but it consisted afterward of eleven priests, who were endowed with revenues 26 Hen. 8. amounting to 142 l. 1 s. 2 d. ob. in the whole, as Sancroft's ms. Valor, and 128 l. 1 s. 9 d. ob. per ann. as in Dugd. and Speed, clear. It was, at the dissolution, confirmed by statute 31 Hen. 8. cap. 13. to George lord Cobham, to whom it had been conveyed by the last master: and upon the scite of it, was built by the executors of William lord Cobham, the new college for the maintenance of twenty poor people.

/z The present worthy incumbent of Derent informs me, that he cannot trace the least vestige of any Religious house in this parish: it is probable, he says, that some of the monks of Rochester might occasionally visit the manor, and reside upon it, as they did upon their other principal estates; but it could not from thence, as he apprehends, be considered as a subordinate priory.

XX. DERTFORD.

1. AUSTIN NUNS. About A. D. 1355. K. Edward 3. founded and endowed a fine nunnery here under the patronage of St. Mary and St. Margaret. The prioress and nuns were first of the order of St. Augustine /a, then of St. Dominic /b, after that Austin's /c, again at the dissolution Dominicans /d, but under the government of Black friars, and those of Langley in Hertfordshire seem to have had that care. Ladies of several noble families have been prioresses and Religious in this house, which was endowed, 26 Hen. 8. with 380 l. 9 s. 0 d. ob. per ann. as Dugd. or 408 l. as the ms. Valor /e. It was granted to Edm. Mervyn 36 Hen. 8. but 5 and 6. Phil. et Mar. it was with all its lands settled upon the prioress and convent of Langley Regis. Dorman saith that Q. Mary restored the nuns of Dertford, but I have not yet met with any record to justify that assertion. After the suppression, it was again made a royal palace, and so continued till K. James 1. exchanged it with the earl of Salisbury.

1. BENEDICTINE PRIORY. Before A. D. 640. K. Eadbald built a chapel within the castle here, and therein placed a college of twenty-four Secular canons, who were removed down into the town to the old church of St. Martin near the market by Wictred king of Kent about the year 696 /h. where they continued above four hundred years /i, till, in the time of K. Henry 1. complaints being made of some irregularities, he gave their house with all their lands and revenues to William Corboil archbishop of Canterbury, who, A. D. 1131. began the foundation of a new church with intent to settle in the same a convent of Regular canons of the order of St. Austin from Merton in Surrey: but his successor archbishop Theobald, A. D. 1140. brought in a prior and twelve Benedictine monks, who were subordinate to the monastery of Christ Church in Canterbury; although their possessions were valued distinct, 26 Hen. 8. XXII. EASTRY.

MONASTERY DESTROYED. Cressy, out of Harpsfield, makes K. Egbert, who died A. D.
673. to have built here, for his sister Ermenburga, a monastery dedicated to St. Ethelbert and St.
Ethelbright, which seems to have been a mistake of the story of St. Ethelbert and St. Ethelred, brothers of Domneva here murdered, and for the expiation of which crime the abbey of Minstre was founded.

XXIII. ELFLEET, or Elslit.

MONASTERY DESTROYED. Mr. Speed places here a nunnery of Domneva's foundation; which, if at all, seems rather to have been at Ebbsfleet in the isle of Thanet.

Burgo as founder. Leland. Itin. vii. p. 127. saith, that Hu= bert de Burgo was founder of the old church or Maison Dieu; and K. Henry 3. founder of the new church.

XXV. FOLKSTONE, olim Folcanstan /q.

1. NUNNERY DESTROYED. Eanswitha /r daughter to Eadbald king of Kent, choosing a religious life, her father, about A. D. 630. built here, for the use of her and her companions, a church and nunnery dedicated to St. Peter, which, in process of time was, as Capgrave saith /s, swallowed up by the sea, but, as others have it /t, was destroyed by the Danes, and after that granted by K. Ethelstan, A. D. 927. to Christ Church Canterbury. After the Conquest Nigell de Munewell /u was lord of Folkston, and about A. D. 1095. gave the church of St. Mary and St. Eanswide here to the abbat and convent of Lonley in Normandy, whereupon some Benedictine monks from thence were placed here first in the castle, and afterward in a build=

/n So Leland. Collect. vol. i. p. 89. and iii. 73. out of the Rochester chronicle; and Thorn placeth the benediction of abbat Clarenbald in this year, col. ... But the chronicles of Dover, Bermondsey, and St. Austin's Cant. refer the foundation to the next year, when Clarenbald went with twelve monks from Bermondsey hither.

/o All the charters mention the king as sole founder; but Mr. Somner (as in Antiq. of Cant. part i. p. 124) finding mention in an old ms. of this queen Maud, 'quæ monasterium de Feveresham incepit.' I have now put her in as co-founder.

Mr. Lewis also saith, it was founded by Q. Maud as well as K. Stephen.

/p In many of their charters and bulls they are called Cluniacs; but in Regist. Islip, fol. 113. there is 'Confirmatio electionis abbatis Feversham ordinis S. Benedicti,' and so ibid. fol. 114. et 189. and in the surrender, and all the later instruments in Southouse and Lewis, they are called Benedictines.

ing nearer the church. This alien priory had the fate of all other such like houses, to be seized, during the wars with France, into the king's hands /w, but was afterwards made denizon, and continued till the dissolution, when it was valued at 41 l. 15 s. 10 d. per ann. XXVI. GREENWICH.

GREY FRIERS. Weaver tells us of a priory here of friers aliens Minorites (Dominicans according to Philpot) belonging to Gaunt, and given afterward to Shene. The manor of Greenwich did indeed belong to Gaunt, though not by the gift of K. Edward 3. but of more ancient donation, and was part of the endowment of their cell at Lewsham, and with that was settled upon Shene. Mr. Speed saith, K. Edward 3. and Sir John Norbury founded a house of Grey friers here A. D. 1376. and the observants that came and fixed in the chapel of the Holy Cross here temp. Ed. 4. and were a branch of the same order, had an apartment built for them near the palace by K. Hen. 7 /x. These last were restored by Q. Mary twenty-four years after they had been suppressed by her father, but were expelled again by Q. Elizabeth /y. Whether the former were two distinct houses, as Weaver p. 339. is uncertain.

XXVII. HAKYNGTON, near Canterbury.

COLLEGE. In the churchyard here, A. D. 1187. Baldwin archbishop of Canterbury began a chapel in honor of St. Stephen and St. Thomas of Canterbury, wherein he proposed to found a noble college of forty Secular priests, and that the king and every one of his suffragan bishops should have a prebend, every one to be worth forty marks per ann. but the prior and monks of Christ Church made such vigorous opposition to this design in the court of Rome, that, after the archbishop had in the next year settled some Secular canons here, he was forced to desist, and the chapel was, by the pope's command, level'd with the ground A. D. 1191 /z.

XXVIII. HERBALDOUN.

HOSPITAL. About a mile from the west gate of Canterbury, in the wood of Blean /a for the relief of poor infected leprous persons, archbishop Lanfranc erected and endowed an hospital to the honor of St. Nicholas /b; the possessions of which were valued, 26 Hen. 8. at 112 l. 15 s. 7 d. in the whole /c, and at 109 l. 7 s. 2 d. per ann. clear, Dugd. Speed. It was not suppressed temp. Ed. 6. A. D. 1574. it consisted of fifteen in-brothers, and as many in-sisters, who had 4 l. a piece yearly, besides two loads of wool; out-brothers and out-sisters in like number, who had 1 l. 14 s. a piece; the whole revenue 160 l. The governor was sometimes called the Dean, sometimes Prior /d, and now the Master.

Jones, p. 579. calls them also Franciscans. Reyner. ii. 166. speaks of a priory of Cluniacs at Greenwich; but I know nothing more of it.

XXXI. WEST LANGDON.

PREMONSTRATIENSIS ABBEY. Will. de Aubervill built, A. D. 1192 /k. an abbey here for White canons, from Leyston in Suffolk, to the honor of the blessed Virgin Mary and St. Thomas /e 'Super aream qua nos episcopus antedictus et parentes nostri duximus originem,' cart. foundationis in Reg. Roff. p. 413.

/f So in the charter of foundation: but Leland. Collect. vol. i. p. 120. and archbishop Parker in his certificate printed in Strype and Wilkins say to St. Bartholomew. There is also 'Hospitale St. Bartholomei in Saltwode,' mentioned in Sancroft's ms. Valor, and valued there at 4 l. 6 s. per ann. in the whole; and 3 l. 12 s. 4 d. clear. With which clear valuation agrees the tenth of 7 s. 2 d. paid out of the 'hospitale S. Bartholomei prope Hythe,' as in archbishop Parker's certificate. Leland, Itin. vol. vii. p. 141. saith Hithe is but a chapel to Saltwood, 'and not far of was an hospital of a gentelman infected with lepre.' From bishop Hamo being mentioned by Leland and also by archbishop Parker as founder of St. Bartholomew's hospital, it has been confounded with that of St. Andrew, but the local situations were plainly different. St Andrew's was built in the town of Hithe, formerly large and populous, on the spot where the bishop was born: St. Bartholomew's, as was usual in houses destined for the reception of lepers, in a retired situation without the town: and I conjecture it to be the leper house mentioned as already existing in the foundation charter of St. Andrew's. In the course of two centuries these hospitals might become united, and the foundation of St. Bartholomew's be from thence ascribed to the same prelate.

/g 'Ordinamus quod in dicta domo [scilicet hospitali S. Andree] non recipiantur leprosi, quod in villa predicta aliud Henodochium existat, in quo percussi morbo hujusmodi specialiter admittuntur.' Cart. fundat. hosp. S. Andr. Quære whether 'Rot. pat. 10 Ed. 3. p. 1. m. 14. pro x l. redd.' does not belong to this hospital of St. Barth. It cannot relate to bishop Hamo's foundation, for which the licence was not granted till 16 Ed. 3.

/h There is also an account in Strype's Life of archbishop Parker, p. 114. of an hospital of St. John at Hythe, founded by the jurates and commonalty of the town, and endowed with lands to the value of six pounds per ann. wherein there were then, A. D. 1562. kept and maintained eight beds for needy poor people, and such as were maimed in the wars; but the time of this foundation is uncertain.

an abbat /t, and continued till after A. D. 964. But suffering very much by the Danes, it came at XXXVIII. MAIDSTONE.

1. COLLEGE. Here was an hospital called the New Worke, built about A. D. 1260. to the honor of St. Peter and St. Paul, by Boniface then archbishop of Canterbury, which, with the churches of Sutton, Hillington and Farleigh appropriated to the same, was united 19 Ric. 2. to the college of St. Mary and All Saints, founded in the parish church here about that time by William Courtney archbishop of Canterbury. It consisted of a master and several priests, who were endowed with 212 l. 5 s. 3 d. ob. per ann. in the whole, and with 139 l. 7 s. 6 d. clear, as Leland. /y I find no mention of this house but what is taken from S. Clara. Stevens' making Edmund earl of Cornwall to be brother to K. Edward 3. (and cofounder of this friery) is certainly a mistake. The collector of the Anglo-minoritica, who also mentions this convent in p. ii. p. 39. out of S. Clara, more truly calls the brother of K. Ed. 3. who was earl of Cornwall, John.

/z As is plain from his charter in the Monasticon; but in Leland. Collect. vol. iii. p. 73. the year of this foundation is fixed at A. D. 1106. Philpot makes it A. D. 1090. perhaps begun in this latter, and finished in the other.

XLIII. NEWINGTON.

MONASTERY DESTROYED. There is in W. Thorn's chronicle of St. Austin's Canterbury, col. 1931. a traditionary account of an old nunnery in this town, and that, upon occasion of the prioress's being strangled in her bed, the nuns were removed to Shepey; that after this K. Henry 2. out of their estate founded here a college of seven Secular canons, but one of them being murdered, four of the brethren were found guilty, upon which the two innocent canons conveyed their two parts to the abbey of St. Austin's, and the other five parts were granted by the king to Richard de Lucy. It is also said, that some writings assign this misfortune among the prebendaries to have happened temp. Will. Conq. and indeed, col. 1788. it is positively asserted that the Conqueror gave to the said abbey of St. Austin's eight prebends in Newington.

Vide in Stevens's Supplement, vol. i. p. 530. an account of this house from Thorn and Fragment Sprottian.

XLIV. OSPRING, or Awssprenge, near Feversham.

HOSPITAL. An old hospital or Maison Dieu, dedicated to the blessed Virgin Mary /i, and founded by K. Henry 3. about A. D. 1235 /k. It consisted of a master and three Regular brethren of the order of the Holy Cross, and two Secular clerks /l; but falling into decay about the latter end of the reign of K. Edward 4. it was, by the procurement of bishop Fisher, granted by K. Henry 8. anno regni 7. to St. John's college in Cambridge /m.

/e So the Chichester register C. f. 73-75. an authority superior to that of Leland, after whom the foundation was ascribed in the former edition to Sir Robert de Rokesly.

/f For they came into England that year, and this was the first house of their order, as Reyner, i. 162.

/g So in pat. 13 Ric. 2. But Speed saith to Holy Cross.

/h The first figure is probably mistaken by one of these authors.

/i Prynne's Records, vol. iii. p. 594.

/k Mr. Lewis saith about 1245. but it is mentioned earlier in the records. The latest edition of Camden placeth the foundation in the twelfth century.

/l It might have been also originally for leprous persons, as

Mr. Philpot, besides those others. The last edition of Camden saith it was founded for receiving Knights Templars going out and coming in to the kingdom. And some say it was a preceptory of Templars founded by Lucas de Vienna, and belonged afterwards to the Hospitalars. But this I have met with no account of, either in the Monasticon or records; and I think it not reconcileable with the account of this house and its revenues escheating to the crown on the failure of its members: for then it would have gone into the general income of the order.

KNIGHTS HOSPITALARS. Here was a preceptory belonging to the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, valued, 26 Hen. 8. at 63 l. 6 s. 8 d. per ann. as Dugd. and Speed, or 60 l. as Le Neve's ms. and the manor, as parcel of the possessions of that order, was granted from the crown to Sir Rob. Southwell 33 Hen. 8. It is more uncertain by whom and when it was given; Mr. Philpot /n saith it was founded by John Colepepper for the Templars before their dissolution 1 Ed. 2. and that afterward it came with the rest of their lands to the Hospitalars. Mr. Speed and Weaver say, that the founder was the same with John Colepeper, who was one of the justices of the common pleas in the time of K. Henry 4. It might probably be a late donation, because not mentioned in the account of the Templars and Hospitalars lands in the Monasticon, tom. ii.

HOSPITAL. Here was an hospital, dedicated to St. James, which was granted by K. Henry 7. to Linch his physician, and, 3 et 4 Phil. et Mar. with its appurtenances lying in Tong and Bap=child, to Sir John Parot.

MONASTERY DESTROYED. Egbert king of Kent gave, A. D. 669 /q. to one Basse, formerly one of his noblemen, now a priest, some lands here, whereupon he built a monastery which was dedicated to the blessed Virgin Mary. It was, A. D. 949. annexed to Christ Church in Canterbury by the grant of K. Eadred, when probably the abbat and Black monks were removed; yet it seems to have been a church of more than ordinary note, under the government of a dean many years after, viz. about A. D. 1030.

XLIX. ROCHESTER.

1. CATHEDRAL AND BENEDICTINE PRIORY. About A. D. 600. K. Ethelbert began to build a church here to the honor of St. Andrew, and therein, when finished, about four years after, placed a bishop and a chapter of Secular priests, who being reduced to four /r or five /s, and obliged to resign, bishop Gundulf, A. D. 1089. settled in this cathedral fifty or sixty Black monks. The bishoprick was valued, 26 Hen. 8. at 444 l. 4 s. 2 d. per ann. in the whole, and at 411 l. 0 s. 11 d. clear; and the priory was then valued at 486 l. 11 s. 5 d. per ann. as Dugd. and Speed. But the priory being dissolved at the general suppression of the greater monasteries, K. Henry 8. brought in again a dean and six /t Secular canons or prebendaries, six minor canons, with a deacon and subdeacon, six lay clerks, eight choristers, &c.

2. EASTGATE HOSPITAL. In the reign of K. Edward 2. Symond Potyn, a man of no small account, who had several times represented this city in parliament, by his will dated A. D. 1316. bequeathed a certain house for an hospital, to be called the spital of St. Katharine of Rochester in the suburb of Eastgate, for such poor men of that city, lepers or otherwise diseased, impotent and poor, to be received therein, and there to abide on the alms of charitable people. This hospital escaped dissolution at the Reformation, and has since been augmented by subsequent donations to the yearly value of 500 l.

Vide in Hasted's Kent, vol. ii. p. 61.

L. RUMNEY, olim Romenale.

HOSPITAL. An hospital for leprous persons founded here by Adam de Cherring in honor of St. Stephen and St. Thomas archbishop of Canterbury, in the time of Baldwin archbishop of Canterbury, which being decayed and forsaken, A. D. 1363. John Frauncys, then patron, re-established here a master and one priest, almost in the nature of a chantry, which was, A. D. 1481. annexed to St. Mary Magdalene college in Oxford /u.

ALIEN PRIORY. The church of St. Nicholas, with the chapel annexed, and some other churches in Kent, being appropriated to the abbey of Pountney in here was placed a cell of monks to that foreign abbey, and upon the suppression of these alien priories it was given by K. Henry 6. to All Souls college in Oxford.

2. ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S HOSPITAL. An hospital dedicated to St. Bartholomew /w, and founded by Thomas Cromphorn esquire, and Maud his wife, who was of the family of Sandwich, about A. D. 1190 /x. for a master, brethren and sisters, and three priests, whereof one was to be prior /y. Sir Henry Sandwich, lord warden of the cinque ports increased the revenues, that here might be maintained twelve brethren and four sisters /y. It was returned, A. D. 1562. to be endowed with 40 l. per ann /z. and is yet in being for six poor men and as many women /a, (who have every one an house and garden and handsome allowance) under the care and government of the mayor and jurates.

/w Strype's Life of archbishop Parker, p. 115. Leland, Itin. vii. p. 125. saith there is 'an hospital without the town fyrst ordeined for maryners desesynd and hurt,' by which he probably meant this hospital.

/x Lewis' Tenet.

/y /y I find this account in some papers of archbishop Sancroft's, amongst which are also 'orders and rules for the government of St. Bartholomew's hospital in Sandwich, A. D. 1435.' It is said in archbishop Parker's Life, p. 114. to have been founded by Sir John Sandwich.

/z Archbishop Parker's Life, p. 114.

/a Lewis' Tenet, p. 203. There were twelve brothers and four sisters A. D. 1562. But quære, Whether this house was not dissolved at the general dissolution of such houses, and re-founded by the mayor and jurates (who might perhaps give something for a grant of the lands) as Strype seems to intimate in archbishop Parker's Life, p. 114.

/b There is no mention of this hospital in archbishop Parker's certificate of the hospitals in his diocese to the privy council, A. D. 1562. but he mentions another called Ellys' hospital, first founded by one Tho. Ellys; of the yearly value of 12 l. wherein were then maintained eight brothers and four sisters; and which was in the patronage of the mayor and jurates. Strype's Life of Parker, p. 114. That return mentions also another hospital called St. John's house of Sandwich, wherein the mayor and jurates maintained twelve poor men, though there were no possessions belonging to it.

HOSPITALS. William Sennock surnamed from this town, where he was taken up an infant left exposed by his unnatural parents in the streets, when he afterwards became lord mayor of London, founded, A. D. 1418. an hospital for the relief of twenty poor men and women, and a free school in this town, which was afterward more liberally endowed by Sir John Potkyn.

But here was also a more ancient hospital dedicated to St. John Baptist, in the gift of the archbishop of Canterbury. For by pat. 23 Ed. 3. p. 2. m. <dot> 'Rex concessit Joanni de Tamworth custodiam hospitalis S. Joannis Baptistæ de Sevenoke ratione vacat. archiepiscopatus Cantuar. 7 Aug.' The advowson of this hospital was conveyed by archbishop Cranmer to K. Henry 8. who, anno regni 31. procured from John Cleyton master a syrrendry of it, with all the lands, rent, &c. belonging to it in Sevenoke, Otford, and elsewhere /e.

LIV. SHEPEY, or Le Mynstre, in Shepey.

BENEDICTINE NUNS. Sexburg widow to Ercombert king of Kent and mother of K. Egbert, obtained land of her son in this island, whereon to found a monastery, which she finished, and got well endowed for seventy-seven nuns, about the year 675 /f. The Religious suffered much here upon the Danish invasions, by whom at last their house was wholly destroyed. But it was re-edified and replenished with Benedictine nuns by William archbishop of Canterbury, A. D. 1130. and dedicated to St. Mary and St. Sexburgh. Here was a prioress and ten nuns about the time of the dissolution, when their annual revenues were accounted worth 129 l. 7 s. 10 d. ob. Dugd. Speed, or 122 l. 14. s. 6 d. ob. as in two ms. LV. The New Work /g at STRODE, near Rochester.

HOSPITAL. About the year 1194 /h. Gilbert Glanvill bishop of Rochester /i built here an hospital dedicated to the blessed Virgin Mary /k, for the reception of poor travellers and the relief of other indigent persons. Here were a master or warden, and several priests, endowed with 52 l. 9 s.
10 d. ob. per ann. Dugd. Speed. This house was surrendered 33 Hen. 8. to the prior and convent of Rochester. In the time of K. Edward 3. Mary de St. Paul countess of Pembroke intended to build a Religious house in her manor here, but altered her mind and built at Denny in Cambridge= shire, to which abbey she gave this manor.

of the council of Beccancelde, A. D. 694.

LVIII. SWINGFIELD, near Dover /n.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS. At Swinfield was an house of the sisters of the order of St. John of Jerusalem before they were all placed together at Buckland A. D. 1180 /o. Whether this was that Swinfield is uncertain; but here was certainly a preceptory of Knights Templars before A. D. 1190.

to which Sir Waresius de Valoniis, Sir Robert de Clotingham, Arnulf Kade, and others were great benefactors. It became afterwards part of the possessions of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, and as such was valued, 26 Hen. 8. at 111 l. 12 s. 8 d. as a ms. Valor of Mr. Le Neve's; but at 87 l. 3 s. 3 d. ob. as Dugd. and Speed. It was granted, 33 Hen. 8. to Sir Anth. Aucher.

HOSPITAL. An ancient hospital founded temp. Hen. 2 /q. to the honor of St. James or St. Jacob. It some time consisted of a master or keeper, three priests, a prioress and twenty-five leprous sisters. Their revenues were valued, 26 Hen. 8. at 53 l. 16 s. 11 d /r. in the whole, and at 32 l. 11 s. 1 d. per ann. clear. Dugd. Speed, or 46 l. 6 s. 3 d. as in Somner. 1. MONASTERY DESTROYED. About the year 670 /t. K. Egbert bestowed upon his niece Domneva several plowlands in this island in order to found and endow a monastery, which she did, to the honor of the Virgin Mary, and placed her daughter St. Mildred abbess here over seventy nuns. This abbey was plundered and burnt, and the nuns and clerks in it murdered by the Danes several times, but chiefly in the years 980. and 1011. After the last of which times here were no more nuns, but a few Secular priests only, and their church and lands were granted by K. Canute, A. D. 1027. to the monks of St. Austin's Canterbury, who translated the body of St. Mildred also to their own church.

/n Quære, Whether this house was not situate upon the extre= mity of the parish next Ewell, and was not upon that account sometimes called Ewell; and whether this was not the house of Templars near Dover, where (as Matth. Paris, p. 237. and others) king John resigned his crown to Pandulph the pope's legate, A. D. 1213. For the pardon of archbishop Langton, which was one effect of that meeting, is dated at the temple of Ewell. Vide pat. 15 Joannis n. 48. 'Pardonatio Stephani archiepiscopi Cantuar. datum apud templum de Ewell.' And that the Templars had possessions, if not an house, at Ewell, see Mon. Angl. vol. ii. p. 527. As these two parishes are con= tiguous, I rather think Swingfield and Ewell to have been the same house, than two distinct ones; but leave it to others.

Temple Ewell was granted by K. Edward 6. to William Caven= dish esq; as Harris' Kent, p. 118. Quære, Whether Swingfield is the place of Templars near Dover mentioned in Leland's Itin. vol. vii. p. 127.

COLLEGE. The parish church of All Saints here was made collegiate for an archipresbyter and two canons, with one deacon and one clerk, by Stephen Langton archbishop of Canterbury, about A. D. 1220. at the request of Ralph de S. Leodegario patron. It was in being A. D. 1293. but seems to have dropped afterward, and the church became again, and is now, a single undivided rectory.

/w 'Monasterium apostolorum principis Petri,' i. e. Upmin=ster, mentioned in the acts of Beccanceld A. D. 694. would have agreed well with this later monastery, but the Monast. saith, that Eadburga's was consecrated by archbishop Cuthbert.

AUSTIN CANONS. Richard de Lucy, chief Justice of England, A. D. 1178. and who had some years before discharged the trust of regent or governor of the realm during the king's absence in France, began an abbey for Black canons upon his estate here, and the next year quitted all his great places, and took on him the habit of religion, and shortly after died /d in this house, which was dedicated to St. Mary /e and St. Thomas the martyr; for so it seems Tho. Becket, late archbishop of Canterbury, was called in about eight years after his death. The spiritualties of this abbey were valued at 75 l. 3 s. 4 d. and the temporalities at 111 l. 5 s. 8 d. In the whole 186 l. 9 s. per ann. Which revenues were among others granted, 17 Hen. 8. to cardinal Wolsey in order to the better endowment of his colleges, and upon the cardinal's premunire, the site was granted, 25 Hen. 8. to Will Brereton, and, after his attainder, to Sir Ralph Sadler 28 Hen. 8.

COLLEGE. A college /f for a master or provost and several Secular canons was begun, A. D.
1431. by John Kemp (then archbishop of York after of Canterbury, and a cardinal) in this town of his nativity, on the west side of the church yard, but not finished till about A. D. 1447. St.
Gregory and St. Martin were the saints in honor of whom both the parish church (which formerly was appropriate to Battell abbey) and college were named. The yearly revenues of this last were worth 93 l. 2 s. ob. per ann. and, after the surrender, the site was granted, 36 Hen. 8. to one Walter Buckler.

/f Lambard, and from him Mr. Weaver, mention a college here, wherein K. Edward 2. kept his Christmas, A. D. 1308. of which college I have yet met with no other account.

<Despite John Tanner's prediction to the contrary, a third edition of the 'Notitia Monastica' did eventually appear. It was the work of James Nasmith, rector of Snailwell (Cambridgeshire). In preparing this new version of the book, Nasmith had the use of John Tanner's annotated copy of the 1744 edition, lent to him by Thomas Tanner (d. 1786), prebendary of Canterbury, son of the original author. Some corrections and additions came from that. The additions made by Nasmith himself were chiefly derived from books available to him in Cambridge. As far as Kent is concerned, the most important new publications were Thorpe's 'Registrum Roffense' (1769) and the first two volumes of Hasted's 'History of Kent' (1778, 1783). Some particles of information were contributed by Samuel Denne; otherwise there is no detectable input of local knowledge. – C.F. December 2010.
